

Press release

Capcora wins Jochen Magerfleisch as advisory board member.

Frankfurt am Main, 06.08.2018

With Jochen Magerfleisch, Capcora has gained a top manager in the energy and real estate industry for the company with many years of experience in strategic development and sales.

Jochen has decades of expertise in management positions in medium-sized and large companies. As managing director of a real estate subsidiary of the Volks- und Raiffeisenbanken and board member for marketing and sales at SÜBA BAU AG, he gathered extensive industry knowledge. In the past ten years, he devoted himself to renewable energies and was a board member of juwi AG, one of the largest project developers in Germany. Jochen is currently Executive Vice President at an international turbine manufacturer in Hamburg. Previously, he was managing director at Schöller Wind GmbH.

“We are looking forward to working with our new advisory board member Jochen Magerfleisch,” explain Alexander Kuhn and Christian von Olnhausen, managing partners of Capcora GmbH. “Jochen is a proven industry expert. We will use his real estate and energy expertise to the benefit of our clients.”

About Capcora:

Capcora is an on real assets specialized company consultancy and raises equity, mezzanine and debt capital for energy and infrastructure projects, real estate and mid-sized companies. The focus is in particular will on mezzanine financing for the recapitalization of tied liquidity in existing portfolios as well as on interim financing of developments and construction measures in the field of renewable energies (photovoltaics, onshore wind) and real estate via alternative financing sources.

www.capcora.com